

Update Foden/Weinmann

Foden/Weinmann – GP next Sunday

Last week their participation was still a hope, but now it's confirmed: the British-German duo Foden/Weinmann will compete at the GP in Straßbessenbach (Germany) next weekend. After a test race in England on Sunday, rider Dan Foden's injured hand (broken thumb) also passed the test on the GP track in Rudersberg this Wednesday.

Whether the literally handicapped duo can immediately return to their previous level remains to be seen. But there is definitely a reason to celebrate: the team competed in their first common race exactly a year ago on the wide track of Straßbessenbach.

Next event:

18./19. Juli 2026

World Championship
Straßbessenbach (Germany)